Nagoya University	Ethiopia	Excellent	I'm interested in Japanese history and culture	I have really enjoyed the trip, learning about the history of pottery making in Japan and the role of Tokoname city. I have got the chance to appreciate the art of pottery from different periods and different countries. My only suggestion is that it would have been even better if we could have participated in making pottery ourselves, as a hands-on experience would have enhanced the experience further.	Next time, consider including a hands-on pottery-making experience where participants can create and take home their pottery products as a keepsake.
Nagoya University	Kenya	Excellent	I was looking forward to learn Japanese pottery history and the present developments.	The event was very insightful and exciting. I was impressed by the many beautiful products made from clay, such as the artistic urinals and the gold toilet. The history of pottery in Tokoname and the video about how the kiln operates were very informative. The tour around Tokoname was an unforgettable experience, and finally, I enjoyed interacting with the NPO Nagoya Ryugakusei Net members and the students who participated.	I want to pass on my sincere apologies for not confirming my attendance before joining the event. I am also very grateful for allowing me to participate in this beautiful event.

Nagoya University	China	Excellent	Never visited Tokoname city despite it being very important tourist spot in Aichi prefecture.	The walking inside the historical kiln town left people very good impression. The time was well managed so participants generally had a satisfied but not too tiring walking experience.
Nagoya University	Paraguay	Excellent	I was very much interested in the pottery and everything related to art excites me a lot! So i thought i would a very nice opportunity. Also, when at my options for traveling, I think someone tends to go to more popular places, that's why I found it very interesting	All the staff and professors were friendly, kind and open to guide us! The explanations were clear, the activities were fun and unique, and everything was well planned and organized. Thank you so much for making the big effort to show us the best of the city with no cost!	Regarding the event, I have nothing but thanks to give. It was excellent!! Maybe the only think it would be great is improving the promotion, so more students are aware of the activities you organize and can join as well!

Nagoya University	Vietnam	Excellent	I attended many events by Nagoya Ryunet. All the events were so good, including this one. Besides, I love pottery, so I decided to attend this event.	First of all, thank you so much, Professor Matsuura, Itsuko, and the others who supported this event. I am glad to have had the opportunity to attend this interesting event. I was impressed with the history, the architecture, and the pottery products in Tokoname. They are so unique and full of historical stories. Walking along the Pottery Road, I felt like I went back to the glorious past and experienced the old, beautiful things. Thank you so much again.
Nagoya University	Laos	Excellent	Good experience from a recent program.	I particularly enjoyed the walking tour session, especially the opportunity to engage in discussions with the program organizers.

Nagoya University	Thailand	Excellent	To visit the place I have never been.	I am pleased that I can learn about history of kiln and clay, and also Tokoname city's unique things. And I can make friends from other countries and other schools. It was a great time for me. Thank you so much.

Nagoya University	China	Excellent	This event can help me to communicate with other people from different countries.	Walk together with new friends leave me beautiful memories. Thanks so much for the event.
Nagoya University	China mai	Excellent	Because I want to learn more about Japanese traditional culture.	I really enjoyed this activity. By visiting the various ceramic exhibits, I was able to gain an intuitive understanding of the color and pattern craftsmanship of ceramics. I am also interested in the development of INIX, a company that has grown from traditional craftsmanship to modern products and has been commercially successful.
Nagoya University	中国	Excellent	I've seen teapots and want to learn about the history of Japanese craftsmanship	What impressed me the most is how ceramics, even a thousand years ago, were considered cutting-edge technology. The craftsmanship has continually evolved, yet the products have always been shaped by the needs of the nation and its people. The blend of tradition and modern technology is fascinating. It's interesting to note that today, the best-selling items are toilets. I wonder what the future will bring.

Nagoya University	China	Excellent	To know the history about the Japanese ceramic industry	Kaneki-cat is very cute	It was good to make some time for us for the communication
Nagoya University	Peru	Excellent	My main reason was to learn about the history of Tokoname City	My main impression was about the history and its trajectory of Tokoname city, it has a very interesting history in the making of Ceramics and bricks that can be seen in Tokyo station. Also the history of INAX company very interesting.	Everything was very well organized and I send my thanks and congratulations.
Nagoya City University	India	Very Good	Visit the Pottery place	I like pottery and love to explore new places. So it is a very good experience I had with my friends.	I think if the lunch is also included it would be good but of course we can pay for bento boxes

Nagoya University	Iran	Excellent	Exploring Tokoname city expanded my knowledge regarding Japanese culture and craftsmanship. As a student of Humanities coming from a country which has a long history in arts and pottery, I really wanted to participate in this field trip.	To be honest, the trip was much better than I had imagined. The museum had different sections, and I enjoyed each of them. I was happy to hear Iranian traditional music being played in the museum. Eating lunch in the garden was refreshing. Walking through the alleys was a unique experience; I was really amazed at how good the Japanese are at using old items to decorate and introduce their history instead of throwing everything away. It reminded me of the Wabi-Sabi concept, and I truly enjoyed it. I also bought a beautiful teapot at a reasonable price, and I'm grateful for that. Thank you, everyone, for another interesting event. I'm looking forward to future events and field trips.
Nagoya University	iran	Very Good	Familiarity with Japanese culture	It was Interesting and I find some friends,
