Nagoya University	Myanmar	Excellent	Naturally drawn to funeral customs and heritage in different countries, I was immediately appealed to this program when I received the email.	It was purely splendid! The haniwa-making activity was superb, having a chance to personally relate to the tour program itself. The tour leaders and the facilitators were generous enough to help us throughout the day. I would love to join other events as well in the future.	It would be great if our tour team had a flag pole like the tour groups at the assembly place before departure.
Nagoya University	Indonesia	Excellent	This event provides a chance to learn more about Japanese local wisdom and culture, while also allowing me to connect with fellow international students who are participating. Additionally, it offers the opportunity to explore nearby scenic spots.	I had the opportunity to join an event visiting Shidami Kofun, and it was a truly memorable experience. Exploring this ancient burial site gave me a deeper appreciation for Japan's rich history and cultural heritage. The guided tour was both educational and fascinating, as we learned about the significance of kofun tombs and the history of the region. It was also a great chance to connect with other international students, sharing our experiences and perspectives. The beautiful surrounding scenery added to the overall atmosphere, making it a perfect blend of culture and nature.

Nagoya University	Philippines	Excellent	I am a huge fan of Japanese and I want to learn more.	Everything went smoothly. The staff of Nagoya RyuNet were very kind and accommodating to our needs. The museum was beautiful and the haniwa workshop was fun and challenging. The staff and tour guide of the museum was also kind. Lastly, the tour around the tumuli or burial mounds was informative, the only problem was that it was too hot and we weren't able to visit the other sites.	The event was perfect in my opinion. But the only problem is the hot weather which cant be controlled.
Nagoya University	India	Very Good	To explore the not so known places and Pottery	I thoroughly enjoyed the trip and would like to be a part of the future trips as well. The pottery part of the day was my best, felt so refreshed mentally and was very happy doing it. Would love if there more of such events.	To organize during much suitable temperatures so that we can see the whole location properly. As due to excessive heat we could see all the sites of the place this time.
Nagoya University	Sri Lanka	Excellent	I am very interested in history and archaeology.	The activity of making the item is exciting, and after visiting the museum as well as the field of the Kofun, I gained more knowledge about the history inside of Japan, especially the Nagoya area.	This is my first visit, and I am enjoying it very much.

Nagoya University	Thailand	Excellent	To experience Japanese Culture that I have not been exposed to before.	I love that we had a chance to make an ancient style earthenware. This is the first time in my life to have such kind of experience and it was so impressive to perform it with friends from around the world, since I could observe other countries's culture, evidentiary from the style of their piece of work. Lovely moment!!!
Nagoya University	Myanmar	Excellent	I would like to learn more about Japanese's culture and history.	After visiting this historical site of the Shidami Tumuli, I learned about various artistic figurines made from clay and burial mounds and tombs of the ancient king and soldiers who served the country. The memorable moment was making the statue with clay by myself. The arrangement and agenda of these alumni organizations make it really comfortable for me to go there.

Nagoya University	India	Excellent	I wanted to explore historical sites that are challenging to access through public transport	The workshop was incredibly useful, providing a firsthand experience of the skill and patience required to create Haniwa pottery. It was a great opportunity to appreciate the techniques that ancient artisans developed and perfected with the limited resources available to them. Engaging in the process gave me a deeper respect for their craftsmanship. The museum itself was quite accessible, with clear, easy-to-understand Japanese descriptions and an informative explainer video. I appreciated that the staff were always available to answer any additional questions I had, making the experience even more enriching. Our tour guide was very knowledgeable and familiar with the area, and her passion for the historical origins of the site was evident throughout the tour. I'm grateful for her willingness to elaborate on our questions and share insights that added so much to our understanding of the

Nagoya University	Iran	Excellent	I love learning about history. I was eager to see how these burial mounds were different from the Egyptian pyramids and the burial mound of the Cyrus The Great in Iran.	Despite the intense heat, the indoor activities made the trip exceptional. It was my first time working with clay, and I had a lot of fun. Although we had a sample of a basic haniwa that we were supposed to make, we were also given the freedom to decorate it in different styles. Thanks to Yoshisan's suggestion, I created a haniwa soldier that somehow resembled soldiers from the Achaemenid Empire, and it really stood out, which made me incredibly happy. Afterward, we had lunch and visited the museum, where we watched an animated clip about the history of kofuns. Thanks to our wonderful guides, we were able to go outside, see the kofuns up close, and learn more about their shapes, the orientation of the kofuns, and the reasons for choosing their specific locations. Thank you everyone for another wonderful trip!

Nagoya University	VIET NAM	Excellent	I participated in the event to learn more about Japan's history and culture, while also meeting new people. It was a great opportunity to deepen my understanding of local traditions and connect with fellow international students.	My impression of the event is very positive. It was well-organized, and the atmosphere was warm and welcoming, with everyone being friendly and helpful. The activities were both fun and meaningful, and I learned a lot throughout the event.
